

Jeff Harris, Site Manager, The Magoffin House (El Paso)

Jeff Harris began volunteering in museums at the age of 15. After working as an educator and lawyer, his love of museums led to him make a career change to museum work full-time.

Jeff has been President of the Association of Indiana Museums, Chair of the AASLH Field Services Alliance and has held leadership roles with other organizations. During his tenure as department head of the Indiana Historical Society Local History Services Department, he consulted with many small museums and history organizations throughout the State of Indiana. Museums he has led have twice received awards from the American Association for State and Local History. He is currently the Site Manager at the Magoffin Home State Historic Site in El Paso.